CHRISTMAS 2026

June: beach week

August: third grade

September: tomatoes

Dear friends, if you only look at the pictures, you already know our year. The big one is Christmas morning, taken on a timer while everyone was still laughing at the dog. Maya started third grade, Leo learned to swim at the beach in June, and the garden gave us more tomatoes than any family should eat. We hope your year had good moments too, and we would love a photo back.

With love,

The Delgados

WINTER

Biscuit met his first real snow. He ate most of it.

SPRING

Grandma Rosa turned 80. We found six candles, so six it was.

SUMMER

Seven days at the shore and zero sunburns, a family record.

FALL

Ana and Sam finally hiked the ridge trail without stopping.

Merry Christmas from Ana, Sam, Maya, Leo and Biscuit

FROM THE DELGADO FAMILY

One photo and two lines each. That was the rule this year, and nobody was allowed to write about anyone else.

Ana, 41

Hiked 140 miles this year and got lost once. She calls it exploring.

Sam, 43

Grew 31 pounds of tomatoes, gave away 20, froze the rest as sauce.

Maya, 8

Third grade, chapter books and strong opinions about braids.

Leo, 5

Learned to swim, lost a tooth, takes nine marshmallows in his cocoa.
